- 1 QUESTION: RFP Section 7.1(vi), page 10, requests that the technical proposal include "Proof of financial solvency or stability (e.g., balance sheets and income statements)." If the Proposer is newly incorporated company with no company business financial records to provide to date, what are the types of documents you envision could be submitted to fulfill this request? This prospective proposer would like to suggest a change for individuals or newly formed companies without ready availability to business financial records that a newly formed company without business financial records to date may submit a statement under penalty of perjury that the company and its sole officer, the individual performing the work, are financially solvent, and the award is subject to revocation should the Judicial Council determine otherwise at any point during the contract period.

ANSWER:

If the proposer is a newly incorporated company, they must submit a statement under penalty of perjury stating that the new company is financially solvent, and that the award is subject to revocation should the Judicial Council determine otherwise at any point during the contract period.

- 2 QUESTION: May I just attach the one page, redlined, of Attachment 2 where I'm requesting changes to the terms and conditions, together with a written explanation or do you want proposer's to attach all 19 pages of Attachment 2?

ANSWER:

The proposer may attach the one page, redlined, of Attachment 2 for the Judicial Council to consider with the proposal. In the written explanation you should note that there are no other redlines.
